Nyikos, Julius (1988). "A Linguistic Perspective of Functional Illiteracy". The Fourteenth LACUS Forum 1987 (Lake Bluff, IL: The Linguistic Association of Canada and the United States): 156. Professor Nyikos found 1,768 spellings of 40 phonemes in his study of six standard-sized dictionaries. It is possible to teach students to read fluently by learning 38 phonemes. Some phonemes can easily be learned by blending a vowel with a following R phoneme. When 1,768 is multiplied by 38 and divided by 40, the proportionate number of spellings of 38 phonemes is 1680.
